Fanditha is also the name of this magical restaurant, situated on the most romantic beach on the northern tip of Reethi Rah. It was on this very beach, one wild and windy night, that Fanditha took shelter from the storm and met the man who was to change her life forever.

Fernando, a dashing buccaneer – part brigand, part nobleman and the illegitimate son of a Portuguese Duke – travelled the high seas, trading in exotic spices, silks and Oriental treasures. On that stormy night, he landed on Reethi Rah and rowed ashore. As soon as he laid eyes on the Sultan's daughter, he fell madly in love with her.

Before starting their new life together, Fernando had to make one last voyage, but promised to return to Reethi Rah on the night of the next full moon. On that fateful night, the storm clouds gathered and Fanditha waited for her beloved, who never came. Three long days later, a small boat, tossed by the elements, came crashing onto the beach bearing the mortally wounded body of Fernando, who died in her arms within hours! At the same time each year, on the night of the full moon, she sailed to Reethi Rah to remember her lost love.
